

Fisher Information Measure of geoelectrical signals recorded in seismic areas

M. Lovallo (1), V. Lapenna (1) and L. Telesca (1)

(1) Istituto di Metodologie per l'Analisi Ambientale, CNR, C.da S.Loja, 85050 Tito (PZ), Italy (ltelesca@imaa.cnr.it), (2) CESI, Via. Ribattino 54, 20134 Milano (MI), Italy

We analyzed the time fluctuations in the dynamics of geoelectrical data, recorded in a seismic area of southern Italy, by means of Fisher Information Measure, which is a powerful tool to investigate complex and nonstationary signals. The time evolution of the Fisher Information Measure calculated for our signals reveals new challenges in investigating the time fluctuations of earthquake-related signals.