Geophysical Research Abstracts, Vol. 8, 09970, 2006 SRef-ID: 1607-7962/gra/EGU06-A-09970 © European Geosciences Union 2006

Error analysis of numerically simulated precipitation for climatological purposes

T. Arason (1), H. Ólafsson and Ó. Rögnvaldsson (3)

(1) University of Iceland, Icelandic Meteorological Office, (2) University of Iceland, Icelandic Meteorological Office and Institute for Meteorological Research (3) University of Bergen, Norway and Institute for Meteorological Research, Iceland

The performance of simulations with the numerical system MM5 is evaluated and the quality of the simulations is investigated for different atmospheric situations. The study confirms that the precipitation climatology is in reasonable agreement with observations. Even when accounting for observational errors, there are still systematic errors in the simulations. These errors can partly be associated with particular wind directions and non-resolved orography.