

Eulerian and Lagrangian pictures of plankton patchiness

A.R. Jacobson (1), A. Provenzale (2)

(1) Princeton University, NJ, USA, (2) ISAC-CNR, Torino, Italy

In the presence of inhomogeneous nutrient input and of horizontal advection, plankton distributions are characterized by strong spatio-temporal variability. In this work we discuss how the spatial patchiness is reflected in the variability of Eulerian and Lagrangian time series and in the average behavior over a fixed spatial domain.